Marion Student Grows Beard To Portray Role of Lincoln

JOE BAKER
In the Role of Lincoln

Having been growing a beard and long hair since the Christmas holidays, Joe Baker, 23, of Marion, a student at Ohio Northern university in Ada, is now prepared to portray realistically the leading role of Abraham Lincoln in "Washington Years," the new Nat Sherman play, which is to be presented by the campus dramatic group, the Northern Players.

The play will be presented March 18-19 in Lehr auditorium at the university.

Mr. Baker, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Baker of north of Marion, is a sophomore student majoring in liberal arts. He has won a prominent place on the stage at Ohio Northern university in Northern Players productions, having previously appeared in leading roles in "Blythe Spirit" and "Bachelor's Wife." Mr. Baker is president of Northern Players and is a member of the National Dramatic Society, Theta Alpha Phi.

A graduate of Harding High school with the class of 1942, Mr. Baker was active in dramatics here. During his senior year, he was cast in a leading role in the class play, "Inside the Lines." He was also a member of the honor society at Harding.

Also appearing in "Washington Years" is Richard Granlee, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Granlee of 606 Wilson avenue. A freshman at Ohio Northern, he is appearing in the role of "Starbuck," an interior decorator.

He was graduated from Morral High school with the class of 1947 where he was active in music and dramatics. He is majoring in business education at Ohio Northern and is active there in the university chorus-choir and the dramatics organization.

PREPARE U.S. FOR DEFENSE

Military Developments Reflect Marshall's Picture of Shaky World.

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter

WASHINGTON, March 11 — Military developments in the United States reflect the "very, very serious" world situation noted by Secretary of State Marshall.

High command conferences... new weapons...quests for military manpower...congressional warning against cutting defense funds.

All these coincided today with Marshall's grave summation of the trend of global affairs.

But just as the secretary voiced an implied plea to the American people to keep cool, other top officials in both the diplomatic and military branches of the government took pains to stress this:

All efforts to build up the United States' armed might are aimed solely at guarding against aggressive attack.

These officials shun the idea of a "preventive" war to beat any would-be attacker to the draw. Secretary of Defense Forrestal told a news conference yesterday that it is not the nature of democracies, "particularly this democracy," to plan a war deliberately.

But the United States is determined to put its military house in order.

Here are some of the latest efforts:

▶High Command: Forrestal has ordered the joint chiefs of staff to meet with him and tell him where they disagree about what service should do what in a war.

▶Weapons: While making ready for further tests of atomic weapons in the Pacific, the military has begun experiments in California with the world's biggest standard explosive bomb—a 21-ton missile.

The Navy, stressing more and more the role of carrier-borne aviation in its fleet, proposed to build a giant 80,000-ton flattop. Such a carrier could make possible new and even harder-striking task forces.

▶Manpower: A new effort to push universal military training through congress is under way. The senate armed services committee decided yesterday to ignore house delays and begin its own hearings on a bill next week. Marshall will be the first witness.

▶Defense funds: House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) said congress not only will find it difficult to cut military funds but may have to appropriate more than the $11,000,000,000 President Truman asked for national defense in his budget.

It will be a month or six weeks before the flasher lights and short arm gates will be placed in actual operation it was said. An announcement from the state highway department was carried yesterday in The Star that the flashers had been placed in operation Tuesday.

HOLLYWOOD WRITERS PICK MOVIE "BESTS"

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, March 11 — "Gentleman's Agreement' is the Hollywood Foreign Correspondents association's selection as the best motion picture of 1947.

A golden globe, emblematic of the award, was presented to Darryl F. Zanuck of Twentieth Century-Fox studio for the picture at a banquet last night.

The association named Rosalind Russell as best actress for her work in "Mourning Becomes Electra" and Ronald Colman as best actor for "A Double Life." Miss Russell also won the 1946 award for "Sister Kenny."

Three others connected with "Gentleman's Agreement" received golden globes. Elia Kazan won the best director award; Celeste Holm was voted the finest supporting actress and Dean Stockwell received the best juvenile award.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN SCHOOLS HALTED

By International News Service

CHICAGO, March 11—The International Council of Religious Education announced today that it will ask member groups in 46 states to discontinue public school religious instruction for 800,000 students during school hours.

The council, with headquarters in Chicago, sponsors released time religious education.

The announcement was made by Dr. Roy G. Ross, general secretary of the council, which held an emergency session in Chicago.

The meeting was called to map strategy following the U. S. supreme court victory of Mrs. Vashti McCollum of Champaign, Ill., in her fight to outlaw religious instruction in Champaign public schools.

Dr. Ross said the council will not recommend elimination of released time classes on religion which are held during school hours but not on school property. More than 1,200,000 children attend such classes.

Dr. Ross, who termed the supreme court decision a "great blow," said action on this phase awaits clarification of the decision.

Meanwhile, Mrs. McCollum conferred with supporters in Chicago, presumably on plans to press her victory.

Dr. Ross declared the supreme court decision indicates a changing government attitude toward religion. He said the International Council of Religious Education will make every effort to make religious instruction available for children who desire it.

CZECHS GRANT PREMIER VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Parliament Approves Communist Program, Prepares Rites for Masaryk.

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, March 11 — Czechoslovakia's Communist government got a unanimous vote of confidence in parliament today as it prepared a state funeral for Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk.

Thus, in two weeks and two days after the seizure of power, Communist Premier Klement Gottwald has tied up parliamentary approval for the program for which he had battled since last summer.

Ahead of the deputies is the adoption of legislation to legalize activities of the action committees which Gottwald set up as the Czech crisis developed. The committees took control of the government for him and quickly began to guide every phase of public and private life.

Purges Parliament

Gottwald has a parliament rid of the deputies he did not like. President Eduard Benes still is in office, although resting at his country home.

Jan Masaryk's state funeral will be Saturday. He will be buried beside his father, founder and first president of the Czechoslovak republic.

The 61-year-old non-party foreign minister was found dead yesterday, two weeks after the new cabinet came to power, in a stone courtyard, more than 50 feet below his bathroom window at the foreign office. The government said he jumped.

Funeral services will be held in the pantheon of the Prague museum in the capital's central square. Premier Gottwald will speak. Burial will be in the family plot at Lany, beside the grave of Thomas G. Masaryk, who was president from 1918 to 1935 and died in 1937. Vlado Clementis, Communist under secretary of state for foreign affairs, will speak there.

Czechs Mourn Death

Czechoslovakia mourned the minister today in shocked melancholy. Half-staffed tricolors and black banners did not begin to tell the story of the loss felt by the nation's "little people."

Czechoslovaks are a hard-headed, soft-hearted people, unashamed of sentimentality. The love they lavished on their world-famous son in his lifetime was matched at his death by their sorrowing. The tone of melancholy was set by radio broadcasts, with continuous reference to his death and with the somber melodies of Czech funeral music.

To thousands the loss was personal, because Masaryk numbered hs personal friends in the thousands.

What policies lay behind his moves and his statements while he remained a non-party member of the Communist-controlled government may never be known.

What went on in his mind through a sleepless night in his apartment in the foreign ministry's Czernin palace was a compelling mystery in the personal life of Masaryk and the political life of his country.

His government said officially that he was ill, suffered from insomnia, was overwrought from reading reproachful messages from friends in England and

Remove Tax Obstacle To Export of Films

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 11—The government announced today an agreement with American film producers to end a tax dispute which brought a Hollywood ban on shipment of films to Britain.

Harold Wilson, president of the board of trade, said the controversial 75 per cent duty on earnings of imported films "would be withdrawn as quickly as the necessary order could be made." The normal export of American films to this country will "resume as soon as possible," he told the house of commons. Earlier, both British and American officials said the agreement is subject to ratification by United States film executives in Hollywood.

LIFE THREATENED

By The United Press

LONDON, March 11—Scotland Yard put a special guard on Winston Churchill today after an anonymous telephone call to police warned that Churchill would be "murdered at mid-day." A spokesman indicated police believed the call was made by a crank. He said that "adequate precautions" have been taken to guard the former prime minister's life.

Morrow Co. Outdoes Chardon In Annual Maple Sirup Run

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, March 11—While sponsors of the famed Maple Sirup Festival at Chardon in Geauga county are lamenting what may be one of the county's smallest runs in history, Morrow county is experiencing a banner season so far, County Agent Elwood Davis reported today.

With maple sirup selling for $5 and up a gallon by virtue of the scarcity following a bad season last year, Morrow county farmers are predicting a good year.

Agent Davis reported the yield from the county's "sugar bushes" already to be nearly two-thirds of last year's total with the run expected to continue into April. First camps were opened in Morrow county during the middle of February with excellent weather conditions contributing to a steady run. The county ranks second only to Geauga county in maple sirup production in Ohio.

An Associated Press dispatch from the Geauga county seat indicates that unless the weather misbehaves for a few weeks the run there will be the smallest in history.

"What's needed," says A. B. Carlso, founder of the famed Geauga county maple sirup festival, "is some wet, warm rains, cloudy, foggy days and freezing nights, The Associated Press reported. "That may sound like a prescription for a first grade flu epidemic, but it is ideal weather for maple sirup. We had one small run a couple of weeks ago and a few drips since, but no real sugar weather."

Temperatures last night in the low 20s and the cold predicted for today give the producers renewed hope. Last year's run, according to Carlson, did not start until March 12, so they haven't given up yet.

The question of whether the best sirup is made in Ohio or Vermont will be one of the features of this year's festival to be held here April 2, 3 and 4.

Governor Ernest Gibson of Vermont will compete against Ohio's Governor Thomas J. Herbert in a tasting contest to decide the supremacy.

Rancher Says He's Patrick J. Hurley's Long-Lost Brother

By The United Press

MARYSVILLE, Calif., March 11—A 65-year-old ranch hand discarded the name of "Billy Smith" today and disclosed he was the long-lost brother of Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war under President Hoover and former U. S. ambassador to China.

In a copyright story in the Marysville Appeal Democrat, William Patrick Hurley claimed he was the brother whom every one believed was killed in the Mexican revolution in 1911—37 years ago.

He said he decided last month to write an air mail letter to his brother in Washington to ask for money.

"I was 65 either yesterday or today and the columnists might make something out of it if they found out that Pat Hurley's brother is on old age pension," he said.

The two brothers last saw each other in 1903 in Lehigh, Okla., where the Hurley family lived. William last was heard from in 1908 when a coat bearing property deeds in his name was stolen from an El Paso, Tex., restaurant in 1908.

"Whoever got that coat was killed in a revolution in Mexico and they thought it was me on account of the deeds," William said.

The grey-haired farm worker telephoned his brother in Santa Fe, N. M., Tuesday night. The money to pay for the long distance call was chipped in by friends in the town of Dingville, near here, where William works.

"He said he recognized my voice right away," William said.

The former war secretary said he was "satisfied" it was his brother.

"Naturally, we are very happy we've at last got together," Patrick Hurley said.

Eastman Wage Dividend Largest in Its History

By The Associated Press

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 11—Eastman Kodak Co. announced today a wage dividend of $11,600,000, largest in its history.

The dividend will be distributed tomorrow to more than 49,300 employes in the western hemisphere.

The sum compares with $8,100,000 paid to 48,800 employes a year ago.

DAIRYMAN DEFENDS U.S. TAX ON OLEO

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 11—A dairy industry spokesman told congress today federal taxes on oleomargarine help prevent its sale as butter.

The house agriculture committee received this testimony from Charles W. Holman, secretary of the National Cooperative Milk Producers Federation. Holman was the first dairy witness to appear before the group considering 18 bills to repeal the margarine tax laws. The committee previously has heard from consumer and industry groups favoring repeal.

Earlier Rep. Fuller (R-NY) said the head of the coast guard is against serving oleo to his men because it would lower morals.

Holman cited an example which he said showed how the federal taxes operate to block "widespread fraud and deception" in sales of margarine.

He said an unnamed New Orleans operator bought wholesale oleo at 16 to 22 cents a pound, colored it in a washing machine and sold it wholesale as country butter at 43 to 50 cents. Eventually, he said, it was sold in stores at 60 to 65 cents.

Before internal revenue agents seized the man, Holman said, he had made $15,000 and evaded evaded $9,797 in taxes. The operator pleaded guilty, and was given a suspended three-year prison term and placed on probation. On the other hand, Holman said, the state courts fined him only $25.

MEYERS RESTS CASE, CALLS NO WITNESSES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, March 11 — Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers rested his case today without calling a single witness in defense of a charge he induced a business associate to lie to a senate committee.

Attorneys for the retired Air Force officer laid the groundwork, however, for a plea for the general's outright acquittal. This plea to the court was to be based on a contention that the senate group which inquired into Meyers' business affairs last fall was illegal.

The only evidence placed before the federal jury in defense of Meyers was a series of senate resolutions creating the senate war investigating committee.

For the first time in the trial Meyer's wife, the former Hollywood actress Ila Ray, showed up in the courtroom.

9 PERISH IN HOSPITAL FIRE

Trapped on Upper Floor of Blazing Mental Asylum in North Carolina.

By The Associated Press

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 11—Nine women patients perished here early today in the blazing inferno of a mental hospital fire.

Seven of the victims were trapped helplessly on upper floors of the four-story central building of the Highland Hospital for Nervous Diseases, Dr. B. T. Bennett, medical director, reported.

Two others were evacuated by firemen who dashed into the fiery structure but they died soon afterward.

The fire, discovered about midnight, started in the kitchen of the hospital's central building. It quickly spread to an elevator shaft and was licking the building's roof when firemen arrived.

Screams Ring Out

Screams of trapped women rang out above the roaring conflagration as doctors, nurses, firemen and police ran through the blazing structure, risking their lives in an effort to save the 20 patients in the building.

They quickly huddled the rescued patients into another building where some sat silently and others yelled hysterically.

The death toll was announced by Dr. Bennett after he and hospital authorities checked the list of patients in the builing. They searched the spacious hospital grounds for them in the futile hope that they had escaped and wandered away.

Police Captain Harold Enloe was the first man to reach the building.

"I could hear screaming on the third floor," he related. "Flames by then were lapping through the roof of the building."

2 Identified

Two of the victims were identified by hospital authorities as Mrs. Allen T. Hipps, widow of an Asheville doctor, and Mrs. Bruce Kennedy, about 30. Names of the others were not released immediately.

Dr. Bennett said some of the hospital's most violent patients were in the destroyed building but they were among the first to be released.

He reported that most of those dying were on the top floor of the wood and stone structure.

The hospital, housed in several buildings, about three miles from the heart of Asheville, is a unit of Duke university hospital in Durham.

MOTHER ONLY SURVIVOR AS SON PERISHES

DC-4 Develops Trouble and Catches Fire as It Leaves Airport.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 11—A Delta airlines DC-4 plane crashed and burned explosively late last night a few seconds after it took off from Chicago's municipal airport. Twelve of 13 aboard were killed.

The only survivor was a 33-year-old mother whose seven-year-old son perished in the fiery wreckage. She screamed hysterically for her child as she was pulled from the flames.

The mother, Mrs. Tripolino Meo, of suburban Oak Lawn, Ill., suffered severe burns. Both of her legs and both of her arms were broken.

All four members of the crew were killed. The plane was bound for Miami, Fla. It splashed into an orange-colored, flaming mass on a nearby prairie at 10:58 p. m. from a height of 500 to 1,000 feet, during a snow flurry, witnesses said.

It was Delta's first accident in scheduled operations since 1934. Last year the airlines received a special citation from the National Safety Council.

"Something went wrong" and the huge craft caught fire when only a few feet above the runway, Delta's district traffic manager said. There was no further explanation.

Two Cancellations

The plane had a capacity of 44 passengers. At least two persons who had reservations for the flight, No. 705 with stops at Cincinnati, O., and Jacksonville, Fla., canceled them shortly before it took off.

It burned fiercely for more than an hour. Some of the bodies pulled out by firemen were burned or mangled beyond immediate recognition.

Pat Smith, an airport cargo handler, said the plane "came straight down in a vertical dive and splattered and exploded on the ground," near 55th street and Cicero avenue.

Flames shot up 50 feet as the plane flopped to earth "like a pancake," said another witness, C. K. Firth, a gasoline dealer who helped rescue Mrs. Meo.

Relatives said Mrs. Meo, wife of a restaurant owner, was on her way to Miami, Fla., for her health.

Mrs. Meo's son's body was found clutched in the arms of another woman. Both bodies were badly burned.

An inquest was scheduled for 10:30 a. m. Friday. Coroner A. L. Brodie said a "blue ribbon" jury of aviation specialists would be summoned.

Passengers and crew members were identified by the airlines and police as follows:

Passengers

Dan J. Courtney, 42, Appleton, Wis.

Mrs. Cecelia Richards, 35, Cincinnati, O. She was returning home after visiting her son, Dennis, 17, of Great Lakes Naval Training Center, north of Chicago.

Albert F. Kahle (of Kaule), Cincinnati, employed by the Continental Machinery Co.

Fred Wilkins, 36, Oak Lawn, Ill., en route to Miami to pick up an automobile for his employer.

Ralph Raymond Levy, 41, Chicago, an insurance broker, en route to Miami to visit critically ill father.

Albert H. Meo Jr., 7, Chicago.

Dr. G. E. Garvin, 42, Blanchester, O., a transfer passenger from a United Air Lines flight from San Francisco.

Harold Levy, 47, prominent Chicago criminal lawyer enroute with his brother Ralph to bedside of father in Miami.

The Crew

Capt. Grover Lee Holloway, 36, College Park, Ga., the pilot.

First Officer John S. Dissoway, 25, Atlanta, Ga., and Hollywood, Fla., co-pilot.

Miss Sue Young, 26, Fayetteville, N. C., stewardess.

Marvin Hairston, 21, pursuer, Avondale Estates, Ga., who died on his birthday.

Mrs. Meo, the only survivor.

Dr. Garvin was a staff physician at Our Lady of Mercy hospital at Mariemont, O., a part of Greater Cincinnati. He was a flight surgeon in the Army Air Forces for 45 months during the last war, according to his widow, Mrs. Hope Garvin.

The doctor had gone to Chicago to attend a meeting of the Chicago Clinical Assembly, according to Mrs. Garvin, and she had accompanied him. She returned home earlier than her husband and was at the airport in Cincinnati to meet him last night. When the plane did not arrive, she returned to her home and was notified of the crash about 2 o'clock this morning, she said.

Dr. Garvin graduated from the ISNT unreasonable to that Jan Masaryk fig- s for the good of Czech- if he disappeared. Only a few hours before his death he visited his father's grave. One wonders if the son was seeking inspiration from the wisdom of the father. Perhaps he got that help. Who knows?

The manner in which the end came doesn't in the least alter our hypothesis. The Prague government tells us that he committed suicide by jumping out of a third story window.

In any event, whether Jan Masaryk jumped or whether he met his death in some other mysterious fashion doesn't matter. What does count is that in the darkest hours of Tuesday night he was made a martyr to inspire his people to fight for freedom. If he jumped voluntarily, he was driven to it; if he died some other way, the effect remains the same.

Whatever way you figure it, Jan Masaryk has suffered the same fate as his country. But it's my guess that his spirit will continue to march ahead of his people, along side that of his father.

Gather To Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

RICHWOOD — Mr. and Mrs. John Foos celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home, 314 North Franklin street. A family dinner was served to relatives from Cadiz, Marion, Columbus, Martel, New Bloomington, Mt. Victory, and Richwood; also relatives were present from Pittsburgh. Friends called from Marion, LaRue, Prospect and Richwood. A flashlight picture was taken of the honored couple and relatives. The celebrants received many gifts including plants and flowers, also a lamp from neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Foos were married March 8, 1898 in LaRue at the home of Rev. J. A. Sutton. They began housekeeping four miles south of LaRue. In 1916 they moved to a farm near Prospect and in 1923 moved to their farm near Richwood, where they resided until they retired, and moved to Richwood four years ago. Mrs. Foos was born near Essex April 6, 1874. She has one brother, M. S. Carter of Richwood, and a sister, Mrs. Iva Rice of California. Mr. Foos was born March 5, 1870 near Prospect. He has one brother, Judd Foos of Cardington, three sisters, Mrs. Ella Gibson of Green Camp, Mrs. Cora Beckley of New Bloomington and Blanche Foos of Martel.

Galion Teachers Ask Twice-Monthly Pay

Special to The Star

GALION—The Galion classroom teachers association Tuesday passed a resolution requesting the Galion board of education to pay teachers twice a month instead of once. This action was taken, a spokesman for the CTA said, because employes in industry have two pay-days per month, and the teachers would like to be paid in the same manner. There were a few dissenting votes.

The group was addressed by M. E. Shank for the first time since he became superintendent of schools. His subject was "The Power of the CTA." Musical features included a trombone solo by Miss Joan Bonsteel, with Miss Marcella Schalip at the paino and a piano solo by Miss Schalip. Business was presided over by Ora Tracht.

Rural Bible Branch Centered in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION—The newly organized Ohio branch of the Rural Bible Crusade will have headquarters in Galion, it was learned today from Rev. C. G. Collison, pastor of First Baptist church, who recently was named chairman of the Ohio branch. He announced appointment of Miss Marie Palmer of Galion as secretary of the Ohio branch. Four men affiliated with the Ohio organization, will make Galion their center, Rev. Collison said. The crusade is being conducted in order to reach Ohio's 411,000 rural children who are without Bible instruction.

ner Marionite To Speak At zarene Church Dedication

ugh Benner, president of arene theological seminary as City, Mo., will be the speaker at the dedication recently acquired Church azarene in Marion Sunday p. m.

enner's parents were char- bers of the First Church Nazarene here, and as a attended the Nazarene school and church. He e of the leaders of the people's work before the moved from here to Olivet, ere he attended college. ompleting his education at Nazarene college, he moved fornia where he pursued theological training and the pastor of some of ger churches of the denom- on the west coast.

Heads Seminary

944, Dr. Benner was ap- president of a Nazarene ical seminary, which was organized and founded. this four years there, Dr. had raised the funds, se- the faculty and established ninary in Kansas City. This has an enrollment of 131 ts.

Benner will preach at the on Friday and Saturday gs preceding the Sunday tion services.

Harvey S. Galloway, dis- superintendent of the Cen- Ohio district of the Church Nazarene also will be present for the dedication and will have charge of the dedicatory service. There will be pastors and delegations from churches of many surrounding communities.

The dedication marks the thirty-third anniversary of the Church of the Nazarene in Marion. It was in 1915 that a small group organized the First Church of the Nazarene in an upstairs mission hall on North State street.

The first location of their own was on South High street. They built what is now known as the American Legion Dugout. They sold this to the Legion in 1919 and purchased the former Lutheran Church on South State street. Their latest move was to purchase the building owned by the Central Christian church congregation on West Church street. They took possession on Nov. 1. The months of November and December were spent in remodeling and redecorating at a cost of $10,000.

Free of Debt

The initial cost of $32,500, and the remodeling cost was all in hand when they entered in for the first service on Jan. 1. They have purchased a Hammond organ which will be installed sometime later in the year. Pulpit furniture, pews and chairs have been purchased. These also are being delayed and will be installed later. The church and all equipment is being dedicated free of debt.

The church is in a "great forward march" program during the month of March, which it is hoped will culminate in a record-breaking church attendance on Easter and a large missionary offering. It is planned that "Every cent that comes in on Easter will be given for missions." Also beginning on this day is the spring revival, with Rev. J. E. Williams, evangelist of Long Beach, Calif., as the preacher.

Next Sunday will be the seventh anniversary of broadcasting Sunday evening services over radio station WMRN. The time of the broadcast is now 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Jan Masaryk's Death

THE death of Jan Masaryk in a leap from a Prague ministry window deprives the Communists of one of the principal figures of window-dressing for their puppet state. Popular, competent son of a great father, Masaryk had been retained as a non-party member of the government because of the esteem in which he was held at home and abroad.

Immediately after the Communist coup, Masaryk, nervous and shaken, had said he was going to "march with the people," the familiar way of saying he was casting his lot with the Communists. Apparently several days of reflection on his decision led him to believe that in his new status he could no longer be true to Czechoslovakia or to himself.

In their seizures of power throughout eastern Europe, the Communists have found no world-respected leaders to stay on and add prestige to their terroristic regimes. Most have gone into seclusion, exile, and, in some cases, prison. By his tragic action, Masaryk offers further proof that there is no honorable compromise with communism.

New Hampshire Primary

THE presidential primary in New Hampshire, which is the first of 17 states that will hold primaries this year, has produced six delegates for Thomas E. Dewey and two for Harold Stassen. This is one less than Dewey's backers said they'd get, several less than Stassen's backers claimed. With due allowance for over-optimism, the outcome was called in advance. Neither side can claim an upset.

On some occasions, the New Hampshire primary has been important because it revealed unexpected strength, as it did when Franklin D Roosevelt's delegates made a good showing in 1932. Aside from that, its importance lies wholly in the fact it is the first primary to be held; just as Maine's September election for governor and congressmen gets the spotlight each presidential year because it leads the procession.

New Hampshire delegates, it should be noted, run as individuals, instead of being identified as backers of the candidates they support. To that extent, the state's primary is more a popularity contest between New Hampshiremen than a popularity contest between candidates for presidential nominations.

Congress Should Decide

TEN of thirteen members of the senate armed services committee this week agreed that the military training issue should be brought to a vote in the upper house of congress.

This was their means of showing disapproval of the rules committee of the house of representatives, which has kept the issue bottled up in the lower house for the last eight months.

The senate committee's decision followed a closed session with the heads of the military departments—Secretary of Defense Forrestal, Secretary of the Army Royall, Secretary of the Navy Sullivan and Secretary of the Air Force Symington. These are the men responsible for advising congress on the armed defense of the United States—the officials who would be blamed if an emergency caught the armed services unprepared.

Their testimony obviously had weight. The senate committeemen made it known after the decision was announced that they thought it would be a reflection on congress if no legislative decision were to be made on military training this session because certain members of the house of representatives oppose it.

50 Years of The Automobile

THIS YEAR is being observed as the 50th anniversary of the automobile. Actually, cars had been made as early as 1895, but in 1898 production passed 1,000. It wasn't until 1909-1912 that autos were more than mechanical curiosities. Paved roads were rare, garages few, and the cry of "Get a horse!" was heard in the land.

Not to be overlooked in the early development of autos was racing, which gave experimenters and venturesome young men a chance to write their names indelibly in the early annals of the industry.

Today the auto industry moves along hitting on all cylinders. There are more orders than can be filled. American cars are marvels of the mass production technique. They have changed the face of the nation and altered our mode of life.

There are medievalists, victorians and yearners for the good old days who look upon the auto as a bane upon mankind. It is true that in the hands of the incompetent it has turned into a juggernaut. It is true that in the mazes of our outmoded business districts it causes hopeless confusion and congestion. It is true that it has made up a speed-happy, car-borne people who won't walk a block if an auto is available.

But the automobile was designed to be the servant of man. It's up to man to adjust his life, design his cities and regulate the automobile's use so as to enjoy its benefits while minimizing the complications it has introduced into our civilization.

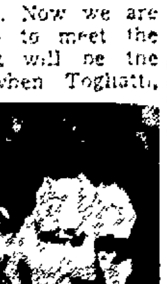
Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

The "Constant Crisis"—How Long Can We Take It?

FOR 15 years now, the mind of man in every western country has been assailed by crises, by emergencies, by alarms, by wars, by depressions, by death. How much more can we take?

Now we have passed the March crisis. Each year, Hitler gave us a March crisis. This time it came a few days early in Czechoslovakia and Finland. Now we are taking our stance to meet the April crisis. That will be the Italian election when Togliatti, also known as Ercoli, will seek to take Rome on behalf of Stalin. I say Rome instead of Italy, for somehow Rome seems to be more of a mouthful. Rome has memories of Caesar and Augustus and Marcus Aurelius and Caligula; it speaks of a universal civilization and a universal religion; it somehow gives one a feel of the entire Mediterranean—of a wonderful world of creative force over 60 centuries of time.



SOKOLSKY

So in April, what happened in Czechoslovakia may happen in Italy. And who shall prevent it from happening? That is hard to say. There was a time when Great Britain and France might have done something about it, but that time is over. Neither has the capacity to do anything about it. The United Nations certainly can do nothing about Rome if it can do nothing about Jerusalem.

Or, shall we say that if the United Nations could do something about Jerusalem, it could have done something about Rome long before this. For as the United Nations is organized, should Togliatti take over Italy, it would just be an internal affair, just a change of administration. Should Togliatti take over, Tito's troops on the Italian border would be the agents of Togliatti's motherland, Soviet Russia.

Work of Amateurs

As for the United States, it has made so many errors, so many blunders before and since George Marshall became secretary of state that it is becoming very late to straighten out all the messes these amateurs composed. Not the least of these was the withdrawal of our troops from Italy too soon. This error was only one of a long list of mistakes made at Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam, at San Francisco, at Lake Success, at Paris and London, wherever our great minds joined the Russians in conference. The Russians always succeeded at these conferences either in getting what they wanted or in producing a deadlock. One of the most costly mistakes made by George Marshall was the desertion of Chiang Kai-shek an the embargo on arms to China. He missed the point there altogether, as he erred when he took American troops out of Italy too soon.

So here we are. Do not regard this article as too pessimistic, and do not be annoyed that it speaks so unkindly of George Marshall. The fact is that we face a crisis—and he, who is charged with our foreign policy, is fumbling. His mind is too inflexible, too rigidly conditioned by a military life, to be obedient and to be obeyed, to be able to adjust to the fine art of diplomacy.

Even As Byrnes Did

He believed that Russians could be trusted, just as Jimmy Byrnes once thought that all he needed to do was to meet the Russian eye to eye to talk common sense to him. Well, the Russian did not take to his particular brand of common sense, just as Stalin and Molotov laugh at Marshall's brand. In fact, while Marshall is trying to sell the Marshall plan (the Bevin plan, ERP or anything else you want to call it) to congress, the Russian has taken a few more countries and is preparing for the final pre-war test in Italy.

It is so queer that those responsible see everything too late. Maybe newspaper men and radio commentators are not as trained in international relations as those who sit in Washington, but some of us can establish, from our copy, the record that we have been consistently right when the state department, and even the White House, was consistently wrong. This writer began warning his readers concerning Soviet Russia in 1919. And the Russian program has not changed since 1919. Must millions die before the state department recognizes the facts of life?

How About Paternity Leaves?

The senate is currently considering a bill to provide paid maternity for federal workers.

It's only an indirect manifestation but someone in Washington seems finally to have become concerned about the nation's diminishing birth-rate.

And well they might: At the present rate, there soon won't be any taxpayers.

If we can't reduce the national debt, at least we can add to the number who shoulder it.

Maternity leaves are logical, although indignant extremists undoubtedly will demand where, under such a system, the government responsibility is to end.

Currently contemplated is a uniform four-week leave for expectant mothers although there is a possibility of some incentive arrangement, providing six weeks for twins.

If the measure passes, as now seems likely, it will inevitably be but a question of time until a group of male employes start picketing congress . . . demanding equal rights for men.

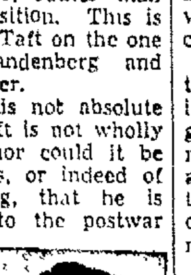
Republican Progressiveness

By Walter Lippmann

THE burden of this series of articles has been that the main question is whether the Republican party will organize itself on a postwar, rather than on its prewar, position. This is the issue between Taft on the one hand, Dewey, Vandenberg and Stassen on the other.

The difference is not absolute and exclusive; Taft is not wholly unreconstructed, nor could it be said of the others, or indeed of any human being, that he is wholly adjusted to the postwar situation.

But, on the whole, Taft is by deep and honorable conviction a pre-war Republican. In an administration formed and led by him, the new Republicans, though recognized, could not be of the inner council and have his full confidence.



LIPPMANN

As between the two parties it is fair to say now on the basis of what is now known and can be foreseen that if the Republicans unite as a postwar party under the leadership of the Dewey-Vandenberg - Stassen combination, they are likely to win. Without a doubt, in this way, they are the most likely to win.

For the Democratic party under Truman draws its principal strength from widespread doubt and uncertainty, especially among the younger men and women, as to whether the Republicans can be trusted to govern in the postwar world.

After 16 years a change of party control is in order. The change would be voted, I think, if the country were persuaded that the Republican party has been reconstructed. That is what the polls reported when they showed that Truman can beat Taft but that he could not have beaten Eisenhower, and that as against Dewey, Stassen, Vandenberg he is losing ground.

The real issue, in short, is not this measure or that, this policy or that, but whether or not the Republicans can form an administration for the postwar period. For on measures and policies the divisions of opinion run through both parties, not between the two parties.

Question of Issues

It would be difficult to name an important issue on which the united Republicans take one side and the united Democrats the other. Certainly there is no party issue on foreign policy, or on national defense, or on labor, or on inflation and deflation in the business cycle.

The real difference between the postwar Republicans and the Democrats under Truman is between a fresh start under a new administration and continuing with an old administration, that can no longer make a fresh start.

Any party that is long in power tends to become the prisoner of its own past. Moreover, as time goes on the avenues of advancement to the top become clogged and closed, and the party ceases to recruit and promote the ablest of the coming generation of public men.

This happened to the Republicans in their 12 years of power. By 1932 the Democratic party, which was submerged in 1920, had become the party of the new men who had no future in the Republican party. It was not the New Deal which attracted the new men but rather, it seems to me, the new men who, coming into power, improvised the New Deal.

A similar development, quite normal in a two-party system, is now taking place, I think, in the Republican party. There are many more new and rising men among the Republicans than among the Democrats. One can see that by noting how meager is the choice of available and qualified Democrats for the vice presidential nomination.

Choices Limited

To man an administration, the Democrats have no such variety of choice as the Republicans have among their candidates for president, their new governors and their new senators and congressmen.

These are the real indications in a two-party system of government like our own that the country is turning from the ins to the outs, that a change of party control is in the making.

In an earlier article of this series I gave some reasons for thinking that this change of party control would have taken place earlier, certainly at the last election, but for the altogether abnormal circumstance that the election had to be held at the climax of the war. This meant the fourth election of Roosevelt and after his death a Democratic administration which is accidental, and

The Prodigal Son in the parable had a brother who was a selfish cad. Do we want to see others suffer the last penalty for their sins while we ecape punishment for envy and selfishness and self-righteousness? Yards and Yards of Red Tape

A Letter Is Traced in the State Department.

A CONGRESSIONAL committee looking into red tape in the state department detailed an investigator to follow the course of an ordinary communication through the various offices.

The communication, accompanied by a $100 money order, requested that the state department forward it to the American Mission in Europe for one airplane ticket from Bucharest to Prague. The investigator had a busy 2½ days following the communication as it made the following rounds:

The letter was received at state department headquarters and delivered to its Twenty-second street building.

Step 1: There it was received in the protection services division.

Step 2: The letter was opened, and the date stamped and check stapled thereon.

Step 3: It was received in the card room for distribution.

Step 4: It went to the public service branch for review and determination as to the acceptability of the check. It was also entered in the memorandum record to avoid responsibility if the letter were lost later on.

Step 5: A special messenger delivered it to the cashier's office, division of finance, in the state department's Seventeenth street building, with the memorandum record which the cashier receipted.

Step 6: The check was detached and a record of remittance —DS-408—was prepared in four copies, one copy being attached to the letter: the check was sent separately through channels to the treasury for deposit.

Step 7: The letter was sent back again to the Twenty-second street building, in the public service section, with memorandum record of receipt. The memorandum of receipt of check was retained here.

Step 8: The letter was received in the card room.

Step 9: An abstract was pulled.

Step 10: A charge-out was made and assigned to the drafting office.

Step 11: The letter was received by the drafting officer with abstract attached.

Step 12: The flimsy file was pulled from the card room.

Step 13: A telegram to Bucharest was prepared and a confirming letter to Moscow was prepared.

Step 14: A letter to the steamship agency was prepared, acknowledging receipt of check.

Step 15: A memo to the passport division was prepared and an abstract card added:

Step 16: The letter was received in the office of the assistant chief, abstracts were detached and sent to card room. The assistant chief signed the mail and kept a statistical record.

Step 17: The mail went to the mail distribution desk, where the letter was detached and sent to letter-folding room.

Step 18: The letter was folded.

Step 19. It went back to the Seventeenth street building where it was received at the distribution desk and sent to the mail room. Memo record was also kept at the distribution desk of the telegram sent out.

Step 20: The letter was received in the mail room in a sealed envelope.

Step 21: The envelope was opened.

Step 22: The letter was received by the chief of special deposit unit who checked the original deposit remittance to see if it was actually deposited. He initialed the outgoing telegram and memorandums, also made another memorandum record of telegram.

Step 23: The assistant chief also initialed it.

Step 24: It then was sent back over to the main building, where it was received in coordination review, where it was reviewed for protocol, and so forth, and to determine that all interested divisions had seen initials.

Step 25: It was received in the code room and telegram was dispatched.

Step 26: The file was received in mail room and confirming letter to Moscow was detached.

Step 27: It then went to the division of communication and records.

Step 28: It was assigned to one of nine examining units.

Step 29: A file number was affixed in pencil.

Step 30: It was received by catalogs distribution point and assigned to one of six sections.

Step 31: It was received by the supervisor of section and assigned to carder.

Step 32: It was carded for each piece of correspondence showing (a) where sent, (b) date and number of instrument, (c) file number, (d) summary, (e) drafting officer's initials, (f) office where returned, (g) initials of clerk typing (this prepared in duplicate).

Step 33: It was then received for indexing where the file number previously affixed in pencil was typed in large type.

Step 34: A review was made of all file actions, index cards were sorted.

Step 35: The letter was filed in permanent folder, it being decided that no other routing was necessary.

Representative Karl Stefan of Nebraska who inserted this report in the Congressional Record said he hoped it would encourage the department to simplify methods which are obviously inept.

CROSSTOWN

"The boss wants to know if we'll let him play."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

"We Offer No Prizes Whatever Because"

THE Man Who Makes A Better Mousetrap today caused a sensation in radio circles, advertising agencies and business promotion general. He made an announcement that fell like a bombshell. These were his very words:

"I intend to give the public absolutely no prizes of any kind. All it will get from me is money worth in the product I am selling!"

Throughout the sales promotion world men and women swooned. It was hours before they could speak. They demanded confirmation. And they got it.

"Not a bicycle for a single kid! Not a mink coat, airplane, diamond tiara or deep freeze unit for a wife or mother! Not a coat of paint inside and out or a trip to Sun Valley for anybody, understand! And not a nickel in cash for man or beast or halfwit," he added.

"I am a manufacturer" he shouted. "All I know how to do is to make a good product and sell it as cheap as possible. I don't know a thing about raffles, crap games, grab bags or sweepstakes. I have devoted my life to producing a satisfactory product, not to thinking up variations of roulette. I run a business, not a gambling casino.

"What's more I think the product which I am trying to sell to the public has genuine appeal and needs no help from Santa Claus, Aladdin or Bet a Million Gates. And if I may say so I have a sneaking idea that the cash customers are going nuts trying to buy something that does not in any way involve saving boxtops, cutting out coupons, getting blanks from the dealer, recognizing footsteps, interpreting clues or saying something cute in 25 words.

"Are you quite sure this amazing stand against a trend is sensible?" we asked the Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap. "Don't you think maybe you should offer a few velocipedes?"

"I will not give away a diaper pin, an old celluloid collar button or a second hand pants button," he declared. "I do not wish my business to be mistaken for a bingo carnival."

He drew himself to his full height and added: "And get this. I am heading my advertising campaign with these words, 'I will not give away anything BECAUSE . . .'"

"Because why?" we asked.

"Because the consuming public is exasperated, groggy, bleary-eyed, fed up and disgusted. Sure they enter the contests. That's why they're so sore."

A great noise of toppling trees and crumbling bushes and falling fences came from without. We looked out of the window of the Better Mousetrap Factory. The Paths to the door were being beaten from all directions, six lane ones too.

You're not counting correctly, Harry.

A sportsmen's show is one of our favorite expositions, but why, oh why, must a show of sportsmen lower its standards as no other big exposition does, and let in so many catch-penny operators of games and devices belonging properly only to the midway, honky-tonk and carnival? To gaze at the trout, see the wildlife and take in the many legitimate exhibits, we had to battle our way through more palm readers, slot machines, silhouette artists, lemme-study-you-by-radio-vibrations men, card trick boys, guess your weight shills, electric necktie sellers, self-photography machines, &c., than we had ever seen under one tent. And that adroit operator among the kiddies, the mechanical house man is back.

Pass the Words

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of the oddest of this country's minor oddities is the fact scarcely anyone knows the words to any of the songs people sing at the drop of an inhibition.

There are more da-de-da and tum-de-dum crooners in the American populace in ratio to its size than could be found anywhere outside of an institution for the tongue-tied. If you doubt it bend an ear to the singer next to you the next time there's an occasion for voices to be lifted in song.

Failure to know the words explains the well known tendency of Americans to lag behind the beat in group singing. Each singer is holding back, trying to catch the words from someone else, and the result is a progressive slow-down that gives song-leaders that wild-eyed look of them have after a few harrowing experiences.

America's urge to say it with music is the conviction that all music should be sung in parts. Unfortunately, the parts turn out to be high, low and a medium drone called alto by women who can't sing high and tenor by men who can't sing low. This division gives everybody a chance to stay in the rat race but adds nothing to the music, which goes from bad to worse until someone gives up in disgust and announces no one is singing in tune so why bother.

A standard repertoire includes "There's a Long, Long Trail," "I Want a Girl Just Like the Girl That Married Dear Ole Dad," "Show Me the Way To Go Home," "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam" and the opening statement of "Way Down Yonder in the Cornfield." These, being the only words known, automatically become the titles of the songs in which they occur.

In the case of hymns, a prime favorite of group-singers, ignorance of words is not so serious a handicap because in hymn-singing the main thing is the high, low and medium effect. At the other extreme, the ballads, the less known about the words the better. Ballads belong by right to those who have mastered the various versions in circulation and are solo material. They must be heard to be appreciated.

The shortest path to social distinction in the United States today is to memorize the words and music to 20 songs, including three long ballads. Doors will be opened. Admirers will pay tribute. The da-de-da and tum-de-tum crooners will be impressed.

Incidentally, anyone knowing all the verses to "Who Put the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder" get into communication with this department immediately. Also "Eleazar Wheelock." This writer wants to achieve social distinction and will gladly exchange the verses of an obscure ballad he knows.

NEW YORK

old has rung with the ttle bachelor feet.
wice a week one or an-
these refugees from a wedding ring calls me up at work and says:

"Hey Boyle—she's puttin' the big pot in the little one. Come home early tonight."

Hal Boyle

By home they refer to the place where I live. "Putting the big pot in the little one" means Frances is cooking a particularly good dinner. And they want me home only so they can get at the grub sooner."

It has been that way ever since we were married. Our home always has been a kind of feeding and repair station for unattached males who are desperately anxious either to attain or escape matrimony. At first they were the pals of my bachelor days. Then the pals of my pals. And now the pals of the pals of my pals.

I think they came originally because they were lonely and homesick for a home-cooked meal. Frances gave them sympathy, fed them and helped a number of them to find wives. One young writer whose pants she used to patch is now out in Hollywood with a swimming pool all his own and nothing that needs patching except perhaps a stray ulcer here and there.

THROUGH THE YEARS Frances has grown pleasantly disillusioned about bachelors. It began when she learned that one of her favorites, who praised her cooking as the best he had ever known, was dishing out exactly the same line to two other wives.

It increased as she learned how seldom it was she found a bachelor who was any help around the house. If one did turn up who could fix a light plug, dry dishes, or build a bookcase, he usually was around only a short time until he got married himself.

"I am just training husbands for other girls," Frances decided despondently.

Bachelors that come our way seem to break down into the following types:

(1) Chronic bachelors—These are the confirmed haters of connubial life. They brag about their own cooking and sniff at your wife's housekeeping.

(2) Life-is-hopeless bachelors—These are the fellows who have been rejected in love. They caterwaul briefly and then marry another dame.

(3) First-aid bachelors—"Please, can you help me find a girl and a job, and while I'm waiting would you mind sewing on this button for me?"

(4) Throw-rug bachelors — These eat your food, drink your wine, then lie on the floor absorbing all the heat from the fireplace while they groan about the international situation.

MOST OF OUR bachelors are this comfortable "throw rug" type. They can sniff a good meal three days in advance, but if you ask them to run to the store on an errand—they have a lame foot.

My wife would like to see our remaining crop of bachelors harvested by Leap Year maids, but I always like to have a few hanging around the old homestead—just for contrast.

For if there is anything that makes a husband look good, it is by comparison with the average shiftless matrimony-dodging, stingy, nose-picking old bachelor.

"I'm glad for one thing, anyway," Frances has told me dozens of times, "that you aren't like some of those bachelors."

In a letter to the Plain Dealer, Leo said the man "took off his jacket despite the bitter cold, to cover my brother and stood in his shirtsleeves until the amulance arrived" after Stanley was hit by an auto. "Whoever you are, wherever you are, I salute you," Leo added.

ASK WELFARE FUNDS

By The Associated Press

ELYRIA, O., March 11—An appeal that Lorain county's $40,100 child welfare budget be increased by $30,000 was made today to county commissioners by the Elyria and Oberlin Leagues of Women Voters. The leagues said Lorain county was the third highest tax duplicate in the state, but is third from the bottom in welfare spending.

Shift To Daylight Saving Time Finds Little Favor in This Area

Establishing of daylight saving time in Marion is dependent upon action that may be taken by other cities in the region, it is revealed by a canvass made of Chambers of Commerce by the Ohio Chamber of Commerce. The tally shows Marion to be at one with numerous other cities in showing such action still "to be determined," according to the survey, issued from the Ohio Chamber headquarters in Columbus through Herschel C. Atkinson, executive vice president.

A number of cities, among them Kenton and Marysville, are listed as anticipating no action. For Columbus, where action is listed as "to be determined," the report states that the city probably will not go on daylight saving time. The Marysville report shows "Rural community-farmers opposed," a reason listed for a number of localities.

Some few cities are attempting to have favorable ordinances pass city council. Though there are exceptions where daylight saving has been approved, the general outlook seems to be not so bright for it except through a break-in the line of one city apparently awaiting action of another. City councils have in some instances rejected the proposal. A newspaper poll in Conneaut, taken to determine action, shows two to one against daylight saving time there. In Elyria confirmation has been made of an old ordinance establishing daylight saving time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September. A charter amendment is to be considered May 4 in the primaries at Youngstown, and in Warren the daylight saving ordinance was recently put into city council's hands. The matter will also be on the May ballot in Akron, where sentiment is listed as favorable. East Liverpool enacted daylight saving by initiative petition through approval last November.

Galion's New Adventist Church Will Be Dedicated Saturday

Special to The Star

GALION, March 11 — Galion's newest church, the Seventh-Day Adventist, Zimmerman avenue, will be dedicated, free of debt, Saturday at 3 p. m. D. A. Ochs, elder, president of the Columbia Union conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, comprising Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, of Takoma Park, Washington, D. C., will preach the dedicatory sermon. Visiting ministers from the Ohio conference, Mt. Vernon, will be W. M. Robbins, elder, president; C. C. Morris, elder, secretary-treasurer; F. C. Webster, elder, secretary of the Sabbath school and home missionary departments; and Charles Boyts, manager of the Ohio Book and Bible house.

Other Ohio ministers expected are E. F. Herzel of Canton, elder, Harvey Gauker of Bucyrus, elder, former pastors of the Galion church. Earl Robbins, elder, singing evangelist of Dayton, will assist.

Young People's Services

The dedicatorial services will begin Friday night with a young people's service for the district, inclusive of churches in Galion, Mansfield, Blooming Grope and Bucyrus. Saturday morning regular Sabbath services will be conducted. Sabbath school will be held at 9:30 a. m., preaching service at 11 a. m. The public is invited to attend all services, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and to inspect the new church. A series of meetings in the new church will begin Sunday evening. S. K. Lenhoff, elder, new pastor of the Galion church, will be assisted by R. W. Holst. His subject will be "Will Russia Rule the World?" Since the church was organized in June, 1939, with 57 members, after a series of meetings by Harold Veach, elder, plans were laid for a church home. Until the first of August, 1947, the church has conducted its services in rented halls, the last place the basement of the public library.

Difficulty Encountered

In 1941 five lots on Zimmerman avenue were bought from E. B. Beall. In the summer of 1945 ground was broken and construction started. At times material was scarce and hard to procure, but work went forward, and today this plain but beautiful church home stands as a memorial to Christ. The building is of concrete and brick, 32x60 feet, with full basement, providing a pleasant church school room where the children are enrolled and instructed by Mrs. Alice Robinson; an assembly room with built-in baptistry; rest rooms, furnace and utility rooms.

The main auditorium seats comfortably 168 persons, the pews were built by the Tiffin Mfg. Co. A special plaster compound improves the acoustics. Provisions are made for a speaker system and movie projector. A soundproof glassed enclosure has been provided for mothers with small children. The floor of the auditorium is in natural beach wood and the pews in natural elm.

Church officers are: pastor, S. K. Lenhoff; elder, Charles French; deacons, E. R. Lehman, William Guthrie and Charles Hinckley.

Doerres, pastor and teacher of the catechism studies, stated. A special service at the Waldo church Sunday night will be held at 7:30, when a set of 35 religious lantern slide scenes will be shown. Accompanying the pictures will be a lecture written by Rev. Jeanbery on "The Two Ways of Life." In addition, 17 slides illustrating the hymn, "The Old Rugged Cross," will be shown.

MARIONITE IN MORRAL CHURCH PROGRAM

The fourth quarterly conference of the Morral and Asbury Methodist churches will be conducted Friday night at the Morral church by Dr. John M. Versteeg, superintendent of the Lima district, according to Rev. J. William Myers, pastor. The church has planned to make this one of the outstanding religious events of the season. A potluck supper will be served at 6:45 by the W.S.C.S. at the Methodist community house located one door east of the church. Dr. and Mrs. Versteeg will be special guests. The service at the church will begin at 8 o'clock, with Dr. Versteeg leading the worship service, assisted by Miss Dorotha Goyer of Marion who will present the Easter story with flannelgraph and play various instruments, including the xylarimba, piano accordion, autoharp, guitar, violin and others. Following this service, Dr. Versteeg will hear the conference reports. Miss Goyer is pictured with the flannelgraf and her musical instruments.

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, THE HOPE of Glory

SELF-DENIAL

1 Cor. 11:24. "... My body ... broken for you."
Matthew 16:24. "... If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me."

THAT Christ's body should be broken upon a cross for us, was of paramount importance in His own estimation, the meridian of all His calculations, an essential in His peerless work of redemption, an event to be perpetually commemorated by men.

In painful contract, the selfish spirit in us is ever prompting us to keep what we have whole and unbroken. Our HEALTH must not be broken or exposed in loving deeds of service; our HOME—by giving a son or daughter to the mission field; our POSSESSIONS—by presenting adequate gifts to Christ and His church; our PLANS—in order that we may accept His holy will. And yet the Kingdom has ever been advanced by the people who put worthwhile things ahead of personal desire and convenience and safety. The wheat must be ground before it can become useful flour, and the spices crushed before their sweet odors can be released. Are you willing to be broken for Christ, that the breaking power of sin in you and others may be broken?

REV. H. V. FALOR, Pastor,
Oakland E. U. B. Church.

Wife Induced To Stay Off Doomed Plane

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 11—Harold L. Levy, 47, a widely known Chicago criminal lawyer, talked his wife out of going with him to Miami, Fla., last night in a Delta airliner flight.

Mrs. Ruth Levy went to the municipal airport with her husband and his brother, Ralph Raymond Levy, 41, an insurance broker. She told police that her husband had a "premonition" and "didn't want two members of the same family to make the trip."

The Levy brothers embarked on the flight to visit their father, Robert R. Levy, 76, former U. S. marshal in Chicago, who is critically ill in Miami. Earlier, a mistrial had been declared in a murder trial to permit Harold to make the trip. He was counsel for one of the defendants.

Mrs. Levy turned to watch the plane head toward the runway. Then she left.

One Man's Life Saved by Mistake

By The United Press

CHICAGO, March 11—A man saved his life today by walking into the wrong airline office.

Eastern Airlines officials here said a man named Crimalel arrived from the west last night, intending to transfer to a Delta Airlines plane for Miami.

He walked into the Eastern Airlines office by mistake. Attendants told him where to find the Delta office, but the man replied

"Heck, I'm here now and your planes go to Miami so I may as well fly with you." He took off on the next Eastern plane.

Shortly afterwards the Delta DC-airliner he had intended taking crashed, killing 12 of its 13 passengers and crewmen.

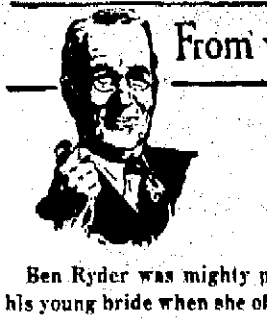
From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh



Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

Then came market time for fryers—and the crisis! Sue simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd raised them as babes ... she'd named them ... they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think things over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers ... but he figured Sue had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

"Holdup" Turns Out To Be Friendly Gesture

By The United Press

EVANSVILLE, Ind.—When an Evansville policeman saw a man get out of an automobile, hold his hands in the air and let another man pull something out of his pocket, he went into action.

But after some hurried explanations, the policeman went on his way. The "holdup victim" said he had been eating some home canned beets out of the jar and got his hands all sticky.

When the car stopped he got out and held his hands in the air while his companion reached around and pulled out his handkerchief.

High Court Upholds Lowering of Pension

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, March 11—The right of police and firemen's pension fund trustees to reduce pensions paid under the old law was upheld today by the state supreme court. The court refused to grant a writ of mandamus to Jesse B. Hayes, retired Columbus fireman, whose pension was cut from $100 a month to $90 by the city pension commission. The high court held that under the old law pensions were "mere gratuities" and that the commission had discretionary power to modify them. The last legislature, however, passed police and fire pension laws which place pension systems on a state subsidy basis and establish the amounts to be paid.

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal? If so, here is how you may rid yourself of this nervous distress. Thousands have found it the way to be well, cheerful and happy again.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Magazine Subscription Firm Gets Shipment of Equipment

The first of approximately 20 shipments of business machines equipment to be used by the Fulfillment Corp., which began operations here last month, arrived this week, Wendell B. Ward, president of the firm reported today.

Unloading of four vans crammed with desks, chairs, machines and stock was completed Tuesday afternoon. The shipment is the first in a caravan arriving this month.

Four more van loads are scheduled to arrive week after next and eight or 10 more the week after that, Mr. Ward said. Three loads will comprise business machines, two will be of miscellaneous mechanical office equipment and the balance desks and basic records.

The huge array of equipment is to be used in the first business of its kind, contract handling of subscription billing for magazines. The equipment will largely fill the four-story building on West Center street formerly the location of the Scherff Furniture store.

Started Here Feb. 23

The firm opened its doors about Feb. 23 when a training program for personnel was launched. As the firm's cycle of operations is centered about the use of punch card type business machines for speedy handling of the vast amount of subscription data, personnel must be trained in the use of these machines. In addition, the huge volume of billings and other material going through the mails requires accurate and quick handling by a staff of workers operating in virtually clocklike precision, it was explained.

The first "class" of trainees started Feb. 23, a second March 1 and a third is getting under way this week. Classes total about 100 employes who are now in various stages of training which includes both classroom and on the job work.

The employes, mostly women, were selected through tests and interviews conducted both by the OSES office here and the company. The classes are progressing "excellently," Mr. Ward remarked today.

First Contract To Start

Present trainees are expected to be ready to handle the firm's first big contract job which starts April 1 when the company takes over the subscription end of "Newsweek" which has about a half million circulation.

Actual operation is under way at the present time on subscription billing for a much smaller magazine, "Scientific American," as the workers become familiarized with the company cycle of operations.

It was indicated that by the middle of April the tempo will be considerably stepped up and by August when two other subscription fulfillment contracts have been added, the company will be operating at peak for the present year. After Newsweek is "digested," comes Architectural Forum on June 15 and Atlantic Monthly Aug. 1. It is anticipated that employment figures may mount to approximately 200 persons by September or October, the big months for subscription activity.

never has had a true mandate from the people.

I, myself, believe, though few may agree with me, that a very large part of the tension, and indeed hysteria, is due in the last analysis to the fact that, on the one hand, the Truman administration has no confidence in itself because it was never really elected and, on the other, that the will of the majority was frustrated in 1944.

As a result the Truman administration has oscillated insecurely between imitating the conservative Republicans and the Roosevelt New Dealers, combining on the whole the less attractive features of both, and the Republicans, denied by circumstance the power which would otherwise have been theirs, have been deprived too long of the experience of responsibility.

Thus altogether too many are still fighting Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins and the New Dealers of 1936 instead of making up their minds about 1948 and what lies ahead.

3 APPLICATIONS RECEIVED AT MEETING OF GRANGE

Three applications for membership and one reinstatement were accepted at a meeting of Mt. Olive Grange Friday, March 5. A contribution of $5 was voted to the American Red Cross fund campaign and the home economics committee reported that $35.81 had been cleared from a dinner served at a recent fox hunt. Billie Johnston entertained with accordion music following the meeting and a quiz contest was conducted by Lydia Lauer, lecturer. Named to serve on the program committee for the next meeting are Edna Knachel, Ruth Finch and Jean Ann Bricker.

Meteorite Hunter Uses Wheelbarrow In Making Finds

By The Associated Press

HUTCHINSON, Kas., March 11 — H. O. Stockwell's wheelbarrow tells him where buried meteorites are located.

Stockwell is an amateur prospector who has found his native Kansas a fertile field for hurtling star fragments. A partner in a Hutchinson electrical supply house, he began his meteor search as a hobby, and now is receiving professional recognition for his work.

Since last September, when he began prospecting as a serious sideline, Stockwell has unearthed four meteorites in Kansas, the largest weighing 740 pounds.

His equipment includes a mineral detecting instrument, similar in principle to the Army's mine detectors, which is mounted on a plywood wheelbarrow. The instrument is wired to react electrically to metal in the ground. Trudging behind the 'barrow, Stockwell paces across Kansas farms with the care of a groundskeeper searching for weeds. When the wheelbarrow crosses buried metal—be it an abandoned plow disc or a meteorite—the instrument gauge jumps violently. Then he begins digging.

His favorite hunting ground has been in Kiowa county, Kansas. There he discovered his 740-pound prize, only eight pounds lighter than the largest meteorite ever found in Kansas. He used a tractor with hydraulic lift to get the big chunk of metal on a truck for shipment to Hutchinson, where he now has it on display at his place of business.

Erie Reports Income Rise for 1947 but Net On Property Investment Below Upkeep Needs

Special to The Star

CLEVELAND, March 11—In an attractive "popular style" annual report for 1947 currently being mailed to stockholders of the Erie railroad, President R. E. Woodruff declared: "The nation must come to realize that if it is to have a strong and healthy system of railroads to fulfill its basic transportation needs, the railroads must have an earning power sufficiently high to restore railroad credit and attract the continuous flow of capital which any self-supporting, progressive industry must depend upon for expansion and improvements."

The Erie had a net income of $4,360,356 in 1947 equal to earning $1.76 per share of common stock. In 1946 net income was $2,694,723 or 40 cents a share.

The report indicates that the Erie's return on its net property investment was 3.2 per cent in 1947. All railroads have petitioned the interstate commerce commission to allow higher freight rates so that they can earn about six per cent. Mr. Woodruff states in the report this will mean 14.4 per cent more than the present emergency increases for eastern railroads. The railroads contend that a six per cent return is necessary in order to modernize and improve their properties to the highest point of efficiency and to keep pace with America's progress."

"The most disturbing element in the past," Mr. Woodruff said, "has been the excessive lag between the time railroad costs, particularly wages, are increased and the time the railroads are allowed to adjust their rates to compensate for such increases. A solution to this problem," he continued, "would be a great forward step in strengthening the railroads' financial position."

Calling 1947 "A Year of Progress" for the Erie railroad, Mr. Woodruff points out many new efficiency and performance records which the men of the railroad achieved. For the second year in succession, the Erie moved the greatest volume of freight traffic in its peacetime history with the exception of 1923, although 1947 about equalled the earlier year. In this connection Mr. Woodruff says, "For the past several years earnings have not been reflecting the record breaking tonnage they have been handling." He cited as the reasons for this that payroll costs have risen 75 per cent and material prices about 88 per cent since 1939 while railroad freight charges increased only 22 per cent.

Freight Tonnage Record

As examples of the outstanding freight performance established by the Erie, the report refers to the average net load of 1,353 tons of freight carried in each train which compares with an average of 1,149 tons for all railroads; the tons of freight moved one mile for each hour of train service average 52,046 or 20 per cent higher than in 1937; the average tons handled in each freight train averaged 3,193, the highest for any period in the company's history. This figure is especially significant because it reflects a more efficient utilization of power and increased hauling capacity in each train. The distance traveled by each serviceable freight car each day averaged a little better than 59½ miles, a 32 per cent improvement over ten years ago.

The Erie invested $13,000,000 in new equipment last year and orders already placed for 1948 total $19,000,000. The report states that the cost of new cars and locomotives is approximately double the cost of 20 years ago. A box car, for example, could be purchased in 1927 for $2,500; today it costs $4,500. A 6,000 horsepower diesel freight locomotive of the type used on the Erie costs over $600,000. The Erie acquired 12 diesel road locomotives and 14 diesel switch locomotives in 1947 and has 16 road and 27 switching diesels on order for 1948.

Passenger Traffic Levels Off

While the demands for freight service were increasing, passenger traffic continued the decline which started at the close of the war but there was a leveling off in the latter part of the year. In August last year, the Erie completely dieselized all of its through line passenger trains operating between New York and Chicago.

Outlining how the use of diesel freight locomotives has produced increased operating efficiency, the report points out that a diesel locomotive can haul 6,000 tons in the hilly territory between Marion, O., and Meadville, Pa., as compared with 2,750 tons by steam locomotives. On the east end of the railroad on Susquehanna hill diesels will handle 6,400 tons with one pusher engine while steam locomotives hauled 6,000 tons and needed two pushers.

In addition to hauling heavier freight trains and producing more miles per month, the diesels have eliminated heavy repair work on older steam locomotives which were becoming too costly to maintain.

The report states that the Erie is using radio communication on its tug boats in New York Harbor and in switching service at Jamestown, N. Y. A further program of two-way radio communication in main line train operation is now under way over three divisions, a total of 315 miles, from Marion, O., to Salamanca, N. Y. This will permit communication between the head end and rear end of passenger and freight trains, with operators in wayside stations and with train dispatchers. Walkie talkies will also be used.

During the year 64 new industries requiring side track connections were located along the Erie lines and 21 industries are expanding their plants which the Erie estimates will produce increased revenue of approximately $1,497,000.

Prospect for Future

In commenting on the future outlook, Mr. Woodruff is confident that with the many improvements being made, the Erie will secure at least its full share of the available traffic. "From the standpoint of net earnings," he said, "the prospects for 1948 must depend to a considerable extent upon a number of factors over which railroad management has no control, foremost of which are (A) the decision to be handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the pending freight rate case; (B) the volume of industrial production, and (C) the extent to which wage and material costs stabilize."

FAITH AND IT'S FAIR EXCHANGES. An Irish lad who came to New York and became mayor of the world's greatest city and a New York boy who went to Ireland to become its first prime minister give the blarney a kicking about when New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer (right) and former Eire Prime Minister Eamon de Valera chat before luncheon in the mayor's home. Recently defeated in Ireland after a 16-year regime, De Valera is in the United States to participate in celebrations commemorating St. Patrick's day.

Let the Table Be Green

SHAMROCK FIG COOKIES . . . For St. Patrick's Day

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A lot of tables will be wearing a touch of green on St. Patrick's day, especially if there are youngsters in the family to help with the decorating. Whether it's a special party or just a family supper many people will enjoy some special dishes in honor of the day.

If there's a shamrock cooky cutter in your kitchen there are loads of easy ways you can use it for fun-fare. To begin with a first course, for instance, cut shamrocks out of slices of white or brown bread, saving the cutaway parts for bread puddings and dry crumbs. Then spread the shamrocks with cottage or cream cheese flavored with onion juice, sprinkle them with finely chopped parsley and use them for canapes. The canapes will look especially pretty and taste awfully good, too, served with tomato juice. Pass them in the living room if you like before the main course is served at the dining table.

If the first course is to be soup, spread the bread shamrocks with softened butter or fortified margarine and toast lightly, then float this very edible decoration on the bowls of soup. A good color choice for the soup would be cream of asparagus or green pea!

Lime-flavored gelatin can be featured in a salad or dessert. One of the packaged flavored gelatin desserts may be used or it can be made at home from unflavored gelatin, fruit juice and a little green coloring. Mold the gelatin in a shallow metal pan and cut the shamrocks out of it when it is firm. This may then be served on a bed of shredded green cabbage or on watercress with mayonnaise or mayonnaise-type salad dressing. Or use the sparkling cut-outs for dessert with a soft-custard sauce or whipped evaporated milk or cream.

The following recipe for rolled cookies may be cut in any shape. If you want to make them into shamrocks or pipes or some other symbol suitable for St. Patrick's day and haven't a ready-made cutter improvise one by drawing the shape you want on cardboard and cutting it out. If this cardboard cutter is floured and used as you would an ordinary cutter it will serve very well indeed. One advantage of these homemade cutters is that if two or three youngsters are going to make the cookies they can all have a piece of dough and no argument over the cutter!

Figs were chosen for the cooky filling not only because they taste delicious used in this way but because they are plentiful and reasonably priced.

Shamrock Fig Cookies

3½ cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons double-action baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, 1 egg, well beaten, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1-3 cup milk. Fig filling (see recipe below).

Cream, shortening, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add well-beaten egg and vanilla and mix well. Add the flour alternately with the milk in four additions, beginning and ending with the flour. Stir enough to combine well each time. Chill in refrigerator until firm enough to roll. Flour board and rolling pin lightly; if cloth pastry set is used flour according to manufacturer's directions. Roll dough one-eighth-inch thick with rolling pin. Cut with flour shamrock cutter. Put a small portion of the fig filling on shamrock; the amount of filling used for each cooky will depend on the size of the cutter—one about 2½ inches will take a rounded teaspoon. Place another shamrock on top and press edges together. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot (425 F.) oven for about 8 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Fig Filling

1½ cups chopped figs, 1-3 cup sugar, 2-3 cup boiling water, 2 teaspoons lemon juice.

Mix the figs, sugar and water and cook 5 minutes, or until thick, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add lemon juice. Cool and then use for filling cookies.

The Body's Policing System

The lymph glands are a part of the body's police system for handling unwelcome and dangerous invaders. There is a whole chain of these glands in the neck where germs from the nose, throat and ears are challenged, removed from the circulation and rendered harmless.

Since they deal so constantly with germs of every kind, it is not unusual for the lymph glands themselves to become infected and enlarged. When this occurs it is important to determine the cause of the enlargement so that treatment may be started at once.

The most common cause of enlargement of the lymph glands is probably ordinary sore throat and tonsilitis, but it may also be due to a much more serious condition—tuberculous infection.

Unfortunately this disorder does not immediately call attention to itself. There is some swelling on one side of the neck, which may enlarge until it is about the size of a walnut. But there is no pain and it may be weeks or months before the infection breaks through to the surface.

Tuberculous infection of the lymph glands, although it does not occur as often as it used to, is most commonly due to the drinking of infected milk and can be prevented by the proper pasteurization of milk. In those parts of the country where milk is properly pasteurized, tuberculous infection of the lymph glands is rare.

Enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck may be due to such general disorders affecting the blood as leukemia or Hodgkin's disease. A type of tumor, known as a lymphoblastoma, may be responsible.

There is an acute infection that occurs in young adults and children in which there is fever, enlargement of the lymph glands in the neck, as well as in the armpits and groin, redness of the throat, and an increase in the number of white cells in the blood known as mononuclear cells. This disorder, known as infectious mononucleosis, lasts for about three weeks and clears up without any particular treatment being necessary.

Of course the lymph glands in the neck may also enlarge as a result of cancer in the mouth, throat and larynx or voicebox. Syphilis is another cause of the enlargement of these glands.

Thus every enlargement of the lymph glands calls for a careful study by a physician. It may be possible to tell the cause merely by the type of enlargement and ascertaining whether or not the glands are painful. In some few cases it may be necessary to remove a small bit of tissue from one of the glands and to examine it under the microscope in order to make sure of the diagnosis.

Questions and Answers

C. W.: I am fifty years old. Whenever I sit down, such as in the street car or church, I fall asleep. What would cause this?

Answer: There are many causes of excessive sleepiness. It may be due to constipation, although this is not a very common cause. You may not be getting sufficient outdoor exercise, or you may be eating the wrong foods. There are various diseases, other than certain brain conditions, such as encephalitis, which cause excessive sleepiness.

I suggest that you have a thorough physical examination to determine the cause of your difficulty.

the sound had released something in Georges which had been momentarily stunned, he dashed to the door, and rattled the knob, calling wildly: "Come back here and unlock this door! You can't do this to us, 'K.'"

But there was no response to his call, and when he began trying to wrench the door open, I spoke crisply.

"Stop being foolish, Georges! If you injure that door, my father will be very angry. And Mr. "K." was perfectly right in what he did. He couldn't have done anything else after your silly refusal to lock the door from the inside. Now come back here and sit down and tell me what it is that you wish to say to me."

He wheeled and looked at me with sullen eyes.

"What does he think he is?" he stormed. "I am not accustomed to take orders from canaille such as he is."

I looked at him for an instant, then I laughed, not softly, but more hilariously than is my wont. Georges fairly glowered at me.

"You evidently find me amusing," he said frigidly.

"I surely do," I agreed brightly. "Why, oh, why, Georges, when you can be such a good sport, so likable a chap, do you have to revert to the middle ages?"

"It's a new world, my dear boy," I went on, "and there is no place in it for people who cannot adjust themselves to new conditions. I might remind you that there is no word in America which means the same thing as 'canaille.' And it is doubly absurd to apply it to a highly-bred, cultured man like Mr. 'K.' PersonallyI feel honored to have him guarding me."

Georges' face had crimsoned fast while I was speaking. Then it paled again, and he looked really haggard when I had finished.

"I'm sorry to have offended you," he said, "and I suppose I should not have used that word. I won't offend that way again. But I don't like him, any better than he likes me, and that is not at all. You know that as well as I do, Aunt Madge."

"I don't know it at all," I said, fibbing shamelessly, for I knew only too well the critical attitude of Mr. "K." and of Katharine's husband, as well as Lillian's and mine toward the royal playboy. They admired his undoubted bravery, and his resourcefulness, but they had hard work keeping their boot toes in order when Georges was staging some of his romantic performances.

"But all this is beside the point, Georges," I went on quickly. "You said you wished to talk to me privately. We have little time, even with the extension of ten minutes which I gave to Katie, before the dinner bell rings. Stop pacing the floor, sit down in this chair opposite me, and tell me what is on your mind."

He could not have stopped his frantic pacing of my father's sitting room floor more quickly had my words been a check-rein suddenly drawn taut. He stared at me for an instant as if, I told myself incredulously, he were trying to remember what it was that had made him wish this interview with me.

Then I saw remembrance come into his eyes, and if anyone save self-sufficient Georges had been facing me I would have been sure that embarrassment was faintly crimsoning his face. But the flush, if there had been one outside my imagination, faded as quickly as it had appeared, and it was the familiar, handsome egotist, Georges, the royal playboy, as Dicky has dubbed him, who spoke.

"Ah yes, dear Aunt Madge," he said unctuously. "I need your advice so sorely. I have so many things I must tell you, that I really do not know where to begin."

Four Cars in Collision At Shovel Co. Gate

A collision involving four cars happened in front of the Center street gate of the Marion Power Shovel Co. at 1:20 p. m. Tuesday. The accident occurred when a car driven by Edward Myers of 879 Congress street was driven from a parked position near the gate and was crowded between a car driven by Oda Hart of near Morral, going east on West Center and cars owned by John Cruswell of 161 Jefferson street and William McClain of 527 East Fairground street, parked on the south side of Center street. Damage to the four cars was estimated at $300.

At 6:35 a. m. Wednesday a taxi driven by Joseph Hawthorne of 724 North Main street, and owned by the Red Cab Co., collided with a car parked at 181 Dix avenue. Neither vehicle was damaged.

In 1639, shipbuilding was considered such an important occupation in this country that shipbuilders were exempted from military service and other public duties.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

FOR TWO PARTIES

Editor of The Star: I have voted since the first time Franklin D. Roosevelt ran for president and I haven't as yet had to sign a petition for him or any one else who was a candidate for president. I am not going to start now to sign one for Henry A. Wallace either and I hope no one else does.

We have too many people with too many personal opinions on public questions and so I hope the Republican club and the Democratic club will educate the public on these questions. I know the Republicans can open a Republican Open Forum by sending to Republican Open Forums, 1938 Connecticut Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Let's all start right here and now in March, get busy, and fight for the Democratic and Republican parties with all we have. If we do, we won't have time for a third party. Let's take some one's expression, "Don't be late in '48 to fight for our Red, White and Blue." If we don't, some one is going to use "their plan" to sell it down the river. They will change peaceful cooperation to agitation. Let's say the Democratic and Republican parties are like a football, basketball or a baseball game. Let's stand on the sidelines and fight for the Republican and Democratic parties and root and yell and fight with the Red, White and Blue American flag as our goal and our honor. Pick your Republican and Democratic candidates you want to win. Get in there and pitch. Let's get going now.

Here is one who will fight to the death for them. I won't sign any petition for Wallace to run in Ohio, That's me.

FROM the United States Trotting association comes the report that handicap expert A P Topper of Bucyrus gives Knight Dream the top 3 to 2 winter book odds for the Little Brown Jug pacing derby held annually at Delaware for three year olds.

That makes the world's champion two year old pacer the odds on favorite for the rich purse that will exceed $50,000. Next to the favorite, owned by Grey-Armstrong stable of East Providence, R I, Topper places Atomic Bomb, a chestnut colt by Brookdale owned by George F Bonham of New York. He is listed at 4 to 1 on the strength of his performance in the 1947 Fox Stakes which he lost to Knight Dream by a fifth of a second.

Quoted at 6 to 1 are E J Hal and Friscoway, the latter with the higher odds because he is not as sharp on the half mile track as on the full course route.

WINTER BOOK ODDS on the Delaware classic will be revised as the current season builds up to the big event. Due to the goodly number of top grade colts nominated for the banner race it is predicted that odds of 3-2 on Knight Dream overlook such juvenile speedsters as Shamrock Vic (10-1), Guinea Gold (8-1), Poplar Volo (8-1), and Marion Direct and Nat Hanover, two top offspring of the great Billy Direct. The latter two are listed at 8-1 and 10-1. ...Hand Book, owned by Chuck England of Marion, is listed at 14-1, and two Richwood pacers, George Battles' Western Councel and the Cheney Brothers' Widows Worthy, are long shots at 60-1.

ENGLAND'S HORSES are being trained in Macon, Ga, by Wayne "Curley" Smart of Delaware. Among Curley's favorites is two-year-old trotter Red Chuck, a Clever Hanover colt owned by England and W H. Norman of Coshocton. A promising Norman pacer under Curley's tutelage is Golden Chief by Chief Abbedale.

DR. J. G. McNAMARA of Marion has a promising pacer in Buddy Patchen training in California for the Santa Anita $50,000 Golden West Pace under Foy Funderburk .. Frank Foster and son, Bill, both of Marion, have a trotter and pacer training in Orlando, Fla., under Ben White, considered one of the best of colt trainers ...Other Marion harness horse owners eagerly awaiting the spring trotting openers are George Alber, George Wright, Carl Kull, Warren Wise, Lou Wickersham, and Don and Gene Earl.

Battle Royal Tonight At Armory

What looks like Marion's best battle royal featuring such men at Farmer Jones the pig-raiser from Arkansas, Bill Murray, the good looking gent from Canada, Len Hughes the Bostonian who used to be called the Mystery Man and wore a mask, Al Alexander the Brooklyn boy who last week upset Murray in one of the best matches seen here in a long time and a new boy from Belleville, Ill., named Jack Kelley. This Jack Kelley is said to be plenty rough and tough, so he and Hughes might team up against the cleaner boys, Farmer Jones, Bill Murray and Al Alexander. The first man out in the battle royal gets expense money and a shower, the next out comes back for the 45-minute semi-final and get semi-money, and the last two left in the ring return for the two-hour main event and of course get top money. A 10-minute prelim between so called Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck will start the show at 8:30. It's still the same prices — 50c, 75c and $1.00. Call 2745 after 6 for seats. —Adv.

One More Golden Glove Training Session Scheduled Before Bouts Begin

113 Young Pugilists Set To Start Fighting Monday Night at Armory

By BILL MURPHY

Last night was the next to last regular training period for the local Golden Gloves before entering the ring at the Armory Monday night to battle for championship recognition in the fifth annual A A M. local tournament.

The fighters have been training at the Y M C A. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday night since Jan. 14.

Among those with previous experience in the local affair, showing promise in their return this year are Joe Neidig of Bynalia, lightweight runner-up last year, Ernie Arcuri, welterweight champion in 1943 runner-up in the same division in '44 and runner up in the middleweight class in '45, John Bennedict, middleweight winner in '46, fighting in the heavy class this year, and Jack Seckinger, a hard training, self-styled will 'o the wisp' welterweight.

Great things are expected of Joe Neidig, who has been making a good showing this year, having taken a decision from Briss Craig early in January in a bout at Schwinger's Annex and more recently winning the Johnny Villella trophy for 'outstanding fighter" in the Mansfield Friendly House tournament by decisioning Jack Brandt.

Arcuri, winner over Don Esbransnade (champion of the Mansfield Friendly House tournament) Jan. 18 at Schwinger's promises to furnish one of the better bouts on the G G program.

Jack Seckinger, with a duo of wins in bouts at Schwinger's, won a decision over Kenny Berry of Mansfield in his latest effort.

Referees Jimmy Williams, promoter, Jack Lewis, former fighter, Dr. Wagner and Leslie Whiteman, former fighter in New Haven, Conn., recently moved to Marion, will have their collective hands full in officiating the 25 or more bouts scheduled for Monday night's card.

Each fight will consist of three two-minutes rounds, making a total of at least 75 rounds. Judges for the evening will be Ray Smallwood, Harry Hill, and Ike Jones.

Another paperweight, Dick Dawson, 14, has been added to the ever growing list of pugilists, bringing the count to 113 to date.

Fights will be run-off in single elimination sequence in each division; no matches between losers will be staged.

Golf Clinic Tonight

The second session of the current golf clinic being held by the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday evenings gets under way at 8 p. m. tonight with Bill Alves, Marion Country club pro, slated to lecture and demonstrate on the use of woods.

A question and answer period will follow his talk, and a movie, edited by Bobby Jones and entitled "Good Golf," will wind up the evening's session.

All persons interested are invited to attend the free golf clinic sessions.

OSU's Tippy Dye Considers "Feeler" To Coach at UCLA

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 11—Ohio State university, which has had only two head basketball coaches in 27 years, may be in the market for a new one in a few weeks.

The Buckeyes' present mentor, William Henry Harrison (Tippy) Dye, said last night he was considering a "feeler" from U C L.A.

Dye said U.C.L.A. Athletic Director Wilbur Johns wrote him asking if he would be interested in becoming head coach there. Johns is quitting as cage coach to concentrate on the athletic directorship.

"I wrote him I might," Dye said, "and he sent me another letter saying he would talk it over with me when the college basketball rules committee meets March 22 in New York.

"That's as much as I know about it. I may be more or less interested after I talk with Johns. Ohio State is my first love, naturally. But you can say I am going to consider the change."

Dye, a nine-letterman at Ohio State, became head coach here two years ago. He succeeded Harold Olsen, coach at O S U. for 25 years, when "Oley" joined the Chicago Stags of the Basketball Association of America.

Dye's first Ohio State quintet won only seven of 20 games, but defeated Wisconsin's eventual Big Nine champions. The past season, Dye's all-sophomore team took 10 out of 20 games, including late-season wins over Michigan's champions, Wisconsin, Illinois and Iowa.

The Ohio State coach said he was "very surprised" about hearing from Johns.

"I dont' know how badly they want me," Dye said, "but I have been approached. I gather that they have several applicants for the job, and that I'd be one of many"

At Los Angeles, Johns said Dye had not been offered the U.C.L.A. post.

"Dye may be one of several coaches I plan to talk to at the coaches convention in New York but there's nothing to the report of any offer being made at this time. I'm playing the field."

Cincinnati

By The Associated Press

LAKELAND, Fla., March 11—Rookie Redleg hurlers will show their stuff here today as Cincinnati takes on Manager Steve O'Neil's Detroit Tigers.

The Reds, snowed under, 14-3, yesterday by the Boston Braves, will send Ken Holcombe, Herman Wekmeier and Harry Perkowski to the mound, and they will have opposition during a three-inning stint from Lefty Hal Newhouser.

Two six-run innings enabled the Braves to win in easy style at Bradenton. They pushed over a half-dozen markers in the second inning on five hits, four of them for extra bases, along with a pass and an error. Six hits and a pass in the eighth counted six more.

Rookie shortstop Alvin Dark sparked the Boston attack with a base-clearing triple in the second and two-run double in the eighth.

Manager Johnny Neun expressed disappointment at the showing of two of yesterday's hurlers, Kent Peterson and Ken Raffensberger.

Cleveland

By The Associated Press

FULLERTON, Cal., March 11—The Cleveland Indians today started an exhibition grind that will leave only one open date before they return to Cleveland April 17.

Starting with today's engagement with the Los Angeles Angels of the Pacific Coast league, the Tribesmen will play 39 games in 39 days against five major and three minor league clubs.

They will meet the Chicago Cubs and White Sox, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the St. Louis Browns, all playing in the vicinity of Los Angeles, and they play the San Francisco Seals, the Oakland Oaks and the Angels before beginning a barnstorming tour with the New York Giants on the road back to Cleveland.

Bob Lemon, who is being counted on as the number two hurler, was to start today's game, his second assignment of the exhibition season. Last Saturday he blanked the Giants without a hit for three innings before he was touched for four runs in the fourth.

Al Gettel, who has been nursing a sore shoulder for the last few days, probably will succeed Lemon. Bob Muncrief, who also is being counted upon for a prosperous season, is likely to twirl the last three innings.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 11—When the announcer giving the Yankee lineups at Al Lang field yesterday said: "Center field, Cliff Mapes," a venerable fan stood up and shouted, "Where's Joe?" Then stomped out and got his money back . . . This writer can sympathize with the fan, for one thing he has picked up during a couple of weeks in Florida is a great admiration for Joe DiMaggio, not merely as a ball player but as a grand guy, personally . . . He's always ready to sign an autograph or pose for a picture or give a quick answer to a fan's question, and he does it with a ready smile when a less obliging person probably would tell the fan to go jump in the gulf . . . Maybe Joe feels that way, but he doesn't say it . . . Incidentally, the reason he didn't play yesterday, except as a pinch hitter, is that his arm, operated on last fall, still stiffens up a little and he's taking it easy on throwing.

BEFORE YESTERDAY'S game some New York writers were ribbing DiMaggia about the catch Al Gionfriddo made off him during the 1947 World Series . . . "Did it make you mad to see that Gionfriddo get beaned?" one asked . . . "That's a heck of a way to get even," Joe countered . . . "You know," interjected another ,"in that situation he should have been playing deep for a long hit. He really was out of position. ' ' ' "He was right. He made it right." Joe insisted . . . "You know," DiMag went on, Gionfridde caused me to make the best speech of my career last winter . . . We were at a dinner together and first Al gave his version of the catch . . . When It came my turn, I just said I was very happy that Al made that catch, because that extended the series, gave the Yankees an extra big crowd and more money and then they could pay me a little more."

Date Between Findlay and Middletown For State Cage Championship Nears

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 11 — That April 3 date between Middletown and Findlay for the state high school Class A basketball championship was a day nearer actuality today.

The two unbeaten titans rolled over another pair of challengers last night, the Findlays extending their victory string to 22 games with a 53-34 conquest of Fostoria, and the defending champion Middies having no trouble with Dayton Fairview, 51 to 28.

Newark's Wily Wildcats, boasting 19 wins in 22 starts, were nosed out 36-35 by Columbus Central. The Capital City club, with its 24-1 record, now is a distinct threat to become the first Columbus team in history to take the big crown.

Shelby Linville, Middletown's All-Ohio great, poured 19 points through the hoop, and George McChesney contributed 16, as the Middies trounced Dayton Fairview in quest of their fourth state title in five years.

Bob Moore of Findlay led the Trojans to the one-sided triumph over Fostoria, contributing 20 points. Findlay led all the way.

Win in Thriller

Over in Class B Lima St. Rose won its 24th in 26 starts in a thriller at Haviland, 39-38. The Haviland club had won 17 of 19, and with seven seconds to go led by 38 to 35. St. Rose sank one from mid-floor to make it 38-37. On the next pass-in a tangle ensued and a jump ball called. Tom Collins, St. Rose's six-foot four-inch center grabbed the ball and shot from mid-floor just as the gun cracked, but the ball went through.

They were still arguing about it 30 minutes later, Haviland declaring the clock was kept running too long, but no formal protest was lodged. That puts St. Rose up against Delphos St. John (24-5) for the regional spot, and has beaten that club three times.

Elsewhere on the Class B front Glenford ran its record to 32-1 with a 50-24 win over Chauncey.

Of more than passing interest was the 38-33 victory scored last night by little Mansfield Madison over Mansfield's Tygers at Sandusky before a crowd of 2,843. Madison has only 61 boys, 12 over the Class B limit, and had never before met the Mansfield club. The Madisons meet Bellevue, 1945 state champion, for the regionals berth Friday night.

Marysville Drops Grove City, 46-35

Marysville's Monarchs eliminated the Grove City combine from the running last night in the Westerville Class B tournament, 46-35. The Monarchs, starting fast, took a 11-2 lead early in the first period. Grove City, trying for that almighty upset, caused the Marysville crew some anxious moments toward the end of the half as they drew within five point, 24-19, and again in the third quarter when they cut the lead to two points, 24-22. Marysville then put on pressure, taking a 35-30 lead, and the valiant Greyhounds never seriously threatened again. Jack McGuire paced the winners with a big 14 points.

Worthington's Cards were the only team to unseat a seeded team in the B district tournament as they thumped the Fredricktown Freddies, 43-34.

Tomorrow night St. Marys Irish will vie for the upper bracket championship when they step onto the Otterbein hardwards to oppose the (26-0) Bremen Oilers at 8 p. m. Marysville and Worthington will battle for the lower bracket crown at 8 p. m. Saturday.

In games at the Coliseum at Columbus in the A loop last night, Central's Pirates caged Newark, 36-35, and Grandview dominated South, 51-41.

Filtered orange juice, says the Department of Agriculture, does not develop as much off-flavor as the unfiltered.

With Entry of U. .S Trotting Association Ohio Rivals New York As Sports Center

By JOHN BELFORD
United Press Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, O., March 11 — With the decision of the United States Trotting association to move its national headquarters here, Ohio today took on added importance as one of the leading sports centers in the United States.

Addition of the USTA headquarters puts Ohio in close running with New York state in controlling the activities of sports events throughout the nation and setting the rules which govern the activities of hundreds of thousands of sports participants.

When the Trotting association moves here from Hartford, Conn., Ohio's capital city will become the center of activity for the 6,000 members of the organization. Harness racing in the United States and Canada will receive its rules from Columbus

Minor League Baseball Center

Thousands of minor league baseball players already look to Columbus for rules and regulations governing their activities. Headquarters of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues here presides over the affairs of 428 minor league ball clubs scattered from Maine to Southern California.

The association, headed by George M. Trautman, controls 57 minor leagues and virtually governs the professional lives of approximately 50,000 active and inactive players.

The activities of the American Association, top rung minor circuit, also are regulated from Columbus, where the AA maintains its headquarters. Association President Frank C. Lane is the guiding hand of the circuit's eight clubs.

Thousands of amateur athletes look to Columbus' Mayor James A. Rhodes for policy matters in AAU affairs. Mayor Rhodes, long a booster of juvenile sports, was recently elected president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

Women Bowlers' Town

More than 300,000 women bowlers know Columbus as the headquarters of the Woman's International Bowling Congress, of which Mrs. Emma Phaler is secretary.

Cincinnati could easily be referred to as the capital of the baseball world, since that is where Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler maintains his offices.

Chandler, with almost unlimited power, rules over all of professional baseball. His word is law to all professional baseball players and men connected with baseball—from major league owners on down.

Cleveland is the patron home of amateur softball players, since it is the home of the Amateur Softball Association of America from May until November of each year, the ASAA is the governing body of all amateur softball clubs and has a membership of more than 650,000. It represents approximately 10,000,000 softball players throughout the nation.

Cleveland also is the headquarters of the Bowling Proprietors Association of America, which has a membership of 1,456.

Trapshooters at Vandalia

To the nation's trapshooters, Vandalia, near Dayton, is what Columbus and Cincinnati are to professional baseball players. Headquarters for the Amateur Trapshooting Association, which has a membership of 10,000 are maintained at Vandalia and the major national trapshoots are held there annually.

Major speed competitions—motorcycle, midget and standard car races — are regulated by the Combined Central States Racing Assn. and Consolidated States Racing Assn. which maintain headquarters in Dayton. The contest board of the two racing associations fixes road rules, engine displacement of competing vehicles and regulations covering types of races. All records of races run on association tracks are processed through the Dayton headquarters.

BOWLING SCORES

The Lamps team of the O.P.S. league is fast drawing near a tie with the league leading Mixers. Taking a clean sweep from Waffle Irons, on Monday night at Palace Recreation, the Lamps drew within one game of a tie with Mixers. The Toaster keglers combined to aid Lamps by taking all three games from the Mixer bowlers. Top individual highs in the mixed league was made by B. Graham with a score of 219 for the men, and Ruth Burke on a score of 168, for the women. Betty Glimpse hit 423 for ladies series high for the women, while Graham's 598 three game total was good for high for the men.

In the Monday Nite Ladies league, Margie Krausz took both high's with scores of 164, 195 and 133 for a total of 492. The 195 score was highest of 41 games bowled over 150 by the ladies. Nine of the ladies fired games over 450. Helen Zeigler was second with a score of 489, while Lillie Dalton took the third place spot with a score of 485. Marion Power Shovel is currently holding down first place in the standing with a record of 49 won and 32 lost.

GIRL SCOUTS BUSY WITH PLANS FOR CELEBRRATION

Girl Scouts and their counsellors are busy with plans for the annual observance of National Girl Scout Week which will open March 12. A highlight of the opening will be a countywide Girl Scout rally to be held Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock at the Legion Dugout. At this time first, second and third prizes will be awarded in the Scout posters being made by the girls. Refreshments will be served.

The rally is being sponsored by the program committee of the Girl Scout counsel of which Mrs. A. J. Wagner is chairman. Serving on her committee are Mrs. Vernon L. Street, Mrs. Clifford M. Howser, Mrs. A. Schoen, Mrs. William R. Martin, Mrs. Charles Dengler, Miss Dorothy Snyder, Mrs. Edward Ellis and Mrs. Harold Fetter.

MOTHERS CLASS MEETS

A potluck supper preceded a business and program hour at a meeting of the Mothers class of Epworth Methodist Sunday school Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. F. L. Thomas on South Main street. Covers were placed for 58 at small tables arranged throughout the rooms. Mrs. Frank M. Knapp, president, was in charge of the meeting and Mrs. Freda Shaffstall conducted the devotions using an Easter theme. Bible verses were given in response to roll call. Plans were made to remember shut-ins at Easter time. Mrs. C. H. Indoe sang a song and Mrs. Gladys Arter gave the thought of the month. Mrs. Dale Lawrence reviewed the book, "So Dear to My Heart." Mrs. Marguerite Haughn was awarded a contest prize. An auction of hand-made articles and baked goods was held. A song by the group closed the meeting.

BIBLE CLASS MEETS

Mrs. Louise Barnthouse was hostess for a meeting of the Ladies Bible class of the First Evangelical and Reformed Sunday school Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Columbia street. Mrs. Hannah Sinning contributed a poem and Mrs. Frank Detwiler conducted the devotions and gave a reading. A lunch with appointments in keeping with St. Patrick's day was served. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. R. H. Reidenbaugh.

DOWN THE VALLEY FROM THE VILLAGE WHERE DR. DEEN WILDERNESS AND FIREBALL FEENEY ARE BEING TORTURED...
DID YOU GET IN AND OUT OF THE TOWN WITHOUT BEING SUSPECTED?
YES, CAP'N CANYON! BUT YOU WERE WISE TO LAND FAR FROM THE PLACE AND APPROACH ON FOOT! THE UNDERGROUND HAS TAKEN OVER!
TO HUMILIATE DR. WILDERNESS THEY EVEN NOW FORCE HER TO OPERATE —YET SHE APPEARS TO BE UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF SOME DRUG!
WHERE IS CHIEF IZM WHILE ALL THIS IS GOING ON?
THE NATIVES HAD NOT SEEN HIM SINCE THE HOSPITAL WAS MOBBED... IT WAS THEN THE UNDERGROUND TOOK OVER, COMMANDED BY A TALL STRANGER WEARING THICK GLASSES...
AND I'LL BET HE SMELLS OF THE SAME LIQUOR THAT MADE ME SUSPICIOUS OF CHIEF IZM!
